

The Museum Ludwig is pleased to present Give Me Paradox or Give Me Death, a solo exhibition of works by the influential American artist Roni Horn. The exhibition includes works spanning from the beginning of the artist's career in the late 1970s to the present day.

Working across sculpture, photography, drawing, and artist's books, Horn's work addresses identity, mutability, and unease. The exhibition title is borrowed from Patrick Henry, a prominent advocate of the eighteenth-century American independence movement, who famously ended a speech with the declaration: "Give me liberty, or give me death!" By replacing "liberty" with "paradox", the artist nods to her interest in the reconciliation of two contradictory answers, an important aspect in her work that also relates to her use of doubling or pairs.
